2. INTRODUCTION

Tharus are one of the indigenous people of Nepal. Before 1983, most of the Tharu boys and girls were working for landlords instead of schooling; because of repaying back their parents loan. Because Tharus were discriminated by so called high caste, to the attempts of social, economic, and political exploitation, the Tharus had gradually migrated from Dang to Banke, Bardiya, Kailali, Kanchanpur and India.

In the January of 1985, on the occasion of Tharu New Year (Maghi) Khyla meeting, Tharu young boys and girls in Dumrigaon, Dang decided to urge Dilli Bahadur Chaudhary to establish a right based development organization for their community and their welfare. Immediately, they formed Dumrigaon organization. Then with 34 member, most young Tharu from and neighboring village have involved in it. By using this organization, they had conducted a literacy class for illiterate local Tharus, and also made plans to implement income generating activities. They and their relatives themselves donated some financing and in-kind support for these activities.

A social activist Mr. Dilli Bahadur Chaudhary, who headed the Dumrigaon organization, had reformed Dumarigaon organization into "Charpate Club" (four edges of a square) club. The club members felt that because of illiteracy we had become backward. They had thought seriously in that concern and the club members had raised seven hundreds rupees only via mason and collective community works including vegetable farming, agricultural wages as well as Tharu cultural shows. Immediate after from that money, club had purchased reading materials like; Thulo Barnamala (a book), copy, pencils, slate, and chalk, and implemented literacy classes under the light of Tuki (kerosene earthen lamp) for illiterate villagers. Thus these literacy classes had been implemented.

After the restoration of democracy, again the organization was renamed as Backward Society Education (BASE) and was legally registered in Dang.

BASE is a mass membership based organization, and as a pioneer institution, dedicated to fighting against exploitation and deprivation of the Tharus, and other marginalized people, in the same locality. Started as a grass-roots social movement, it now works through education, social mobilization & community development under the slogan "Education first". The main aim of BASE is to uplift the livelihood of Tharus and other exploited people in the Western Nepal, whose lives are often characterized by extreme poverty. It has a total of 196,000 general members of which 30,735 are active members.

BASE has been extremely successful in mobilizing a huge group of people not only Tharus, but also other indigenous people and so called "untouchable" groups in seven districts namely; Rukum, Salyan, Dang, Banke, Bardiya, Kailali, and Kanchanpur.

2. SUMMARY

BASE started initiatives to render its services to the rural community with its efficient staff and social movement to play a crucial mediating role in the community. It has implemented various projects as per the guidelines and donations granted by various donor agencies and its participant organizations, by complying with the directions and the statute prepared by the Central Committee. At BASE, the staff members are also called "People for Paper" and its Committees members as "People for People" as well. It is BASE's working policy to see the programs being planned and implemented by the rural community. The project programs under implementation are monitored and supervised by both the staff and committee members as well.

Internal Membership Fee: BASE collects membership fee as its internal means of resources and makes use of local officials to select the committee members for a sustainable program.

Democratic Governance: BASE comprises of committees of various levels. For instance, Village Committees/Civil Organizations are formed from its general members. Area Committees from the village committees and district committees out of the regional committees are selected. The Central Committee is formed by the votes cast by the regional, district level committees and its active members. A total of 13 officials are there in the central, regional, district and village committees, of which 2 are nominated in the working committee, for advice and appropriate suggestions by the concerned chairmen of the committees. This process is repeated in an interval of every five years. The key role of the central committee is to formulate policies which are followed in every region. The other role of the central committee is to extend its relation and coordinate with the various donors and participatory organizations.

Human Resource Development: In order to bolster technical and non-technical men power in rural community, BASE has started initiatives to exploit local resources, local youths including Tharus and other indigenous youths and promote their capacity development in the form of rendering community technical assistance.

Responsibility of Ordinary Members: BASE initiates orientations and campaigns for various level committees, with a view to deliver information on the concept of development, current status and the project programs being launched. Besides, it falls within the responsibility of the committee members to implement the launched programs by supervising and monitoring them. It is their sole responsibility to ensure that the targeted community receives the benefits. The members are the representatives of the general meeting. They decide on shaping the new direction of the programs and the organization during the general meeting. Thus, they are responsible for general meeting.

Local Organizational Process: Representatives of women's groups, child clubs and organizations, liberated bonded laborers (Kamaiya) groups, Kamalahari (bonded women laborers), Youth Awareness Committees and Women's Awareness fall within the civil (citizens) organizations. These are the beneficiary groups and class targeted by the project programs launched by BASE.

Based on general membership: Firstly, BASE distributes its general membership to incorporate them within its organization and to protect and preserve the human right of its targeted community. This process is described as basically based on general membership or a process for the members by the members.

Focus on social justice and rights: BASE has focused its programs on social movement, various campaigns and advocacy on prevalent issues pertinent to human rights. Such movements include Kamaiya liberation movement, transformation of conflict for peace building, elimination of child labor, land rights. These are the main social justice and rights based movements launched by BASE. Most of BASE staff hail from the rural community. One of the main strategies of BASE is to support its staff for higher education within the country and abroad with a view to enhance their working efficiency. Some of the beneficiaries have even got the opportunity to work with the national and international agencies after taking advantage of this opportunity from BASE.

And since some of the staff members and committee's members is expert on organizational leadership, they are leading the NGOs and community based organizations currently.

BASE has also started working in the far western and mid western region of Nepal to make its programs effective among its targeted beneficiary groups by rendering quality services and enhancing the capacity development of its staff. BASE has developed a network with the local NGOs in order to exchange the information and experience related to BASE development process. BASE is gradually gaining self reliance at organization level and is capable of managing its resources gained through grant assistance. It is also capable of supervising and monitoring its participatory organizations. Therefore, it assists the NGOs and community based organizations with material assistance. BASE also works as a centre for human resource development. It prepares package materials required for various training programs. It also launches various trainings for NGOs, community based organizations, group members, committee members and its staff.

Besides this, it provides technical assistance to its group members in connection with agricultural and non-agricultural based programs. BASE also provides assistance to community forest.

Service Oriented Works: Since its inception, BASE has been launching various programs to renders its services to the targeted community such as education, health, women empowerment, poverty elimination, conservation of environment and income generating programs.

4. EDUCATION PROGRAM

4.1 Education and Child Development

Children's right to education is their inborn right. No child should be barred from the right to education. The delicate hands of the children should hold the books and dolls to play with, instead of breaking the stones. Education is the only guideline for liberation. It is the educational opportunity that can lead to the emancipation of backward society from superstition, poverty, exploitation and suppression and help it attain its rights. Under the current situation, the conflict affected children should be given psychological treatment to enable them to continue their schooling. Keeping this in view, the BASE has launched various formal and non-formal education programs for the children and adults falling within its working areas in the districts. This program has directly benefited the children of 3-18 age groups including the children of other disadvantaged communities such as indigenous nationalities (janajati), dalits, freed Kamaiyas and landless people. Beside this, BASE advocate for the quality education by doing various activities. Likewise, literacy program has also been launched for the benefit of socially and economically backward women of 15-45 age groups.

Objectives of this program:

- a. To increase the educational accessibility to those children, who were denied the right to education.
- b. To facilitate the overall development of the children through child education and child development programs.
- c. To facilitate in bringing the children at risk to the schools through child clubs and youth clubs.
- d. To provide opportunity for the children already at risk to go to schools and prevent them from becoming child laborers.
- e. To improve the school's physical infrastructure and teaching method for the sake of quality education.
- f. To initiate people's advocacy against social discrimination, child marriage with the help of child society/ child organizations.
- g. To enhance the capacity of level-wise committees at school level and develop harmonious atmosphere.
- h. To promote awareness on importance of education
- i. To encourage the participation of communities in the schools in the conflict affected areas and enhance the quality education of the schools.
- j. To provide psychological counseling to the displaced, orphans and handicapped children adversely affected by the conflict.
- k. To promote women's literacy skills.

4.1.1. Scholarship Support Program

Even though the primary school education is free according to the government act (2058), yet due to the low physical infrastructure of the schools, admissions fees are made mandatory up to the middle and high schools, which has dissuaded many of the children from going to the schools. Instead, their parents make them work elsewhere for some meager income. In this context, BASE has been committed to providing scholarships to the poor children, conflict affected children, children at risk to continue their schooling, as BASE considers them as major means of social movement. In the educational calendar 2062/63 6,460 children (2,493 boys and 3,967 girls) are continuing their school education under scholarship provided by BASE.

4.1.2 Child Development Centre

Individuals, families, society and the nation should be sensitive towards the overall development of the children (physical, mental, social and emotional). In our Nepali context, usually the children are denied their inborn rights as their parents are either engaged in their livelihood or they lack the awareness in this connection. It is well known fact that if the children get the suitable environment for their mental development and time for sports, their development can be possible. Keeping this in mind, BASE in Kailali and Bardia district has been operating community based child development centers (CBCDC), targeting the 3-5 aged children of this area.

This year a total of 1234 children (561 boys and 673 girls) who completed their studies from Kailali CBCD were enrolled in the schools. Last year, a total of 2837 children had studied at child development centre. This year BASE supported 27 CBCDC in Kailali district in the construction of child development houses.

Likewise, in Bardia district at least 21 CBCDC are being run in close partnership with the Bardia District Education Office. A total of 550 children (272 boys and 278 girls) have been directly benefited by this centre. 281 children (154 boys and 127 girls) of this centre were enrolled in other schools this year. For the sustainable development of these centers, 21 centers of Bardia have Rs. 442,000 as balance fund. Besides, BASE has provided indoor games in almost all the child development centers. It has supported 12 centers in building toilet, while it has supported 15 other centers with outdoor sports materials.

	Total	155	1650	1,856	3,506

4.1.3 Alternative Education

Most of the children in the rural areas are still not able to reach the school premises due to expensive school fees, poverty, child labor and discriminatory school environment, though Nepal government has declared that by the end of 2015 education must be available for all with the theme, "Education for all", the number of school drops out is increasing. So, it must be accepted that the government's call for "education for all" within 2015 is certainly not going to be implemented. Keeping this problem in view, BASE in coordination with Nepal government has planned to provide opportunity of education to those children who have been alienated from the education through "alternative education" program.

Under this program, the children can participate by sparing their time from the domestic chores. BASE has also been supporting the smaller local NGOs to run the alternative classes for the children who have no access to education to make sure that the children of all classes get access to education. In the above mentioned program, the books prepared by the Nepal government's Department of Education (DEO) are being used. In Bardia district the alternative class program has completed two years and its annual review has been done.

4.1.4 Emergency Class

BASE from its past experience learnt that the child laborers dropped out their classes and continued to work as child laborers ever after that. As a result they turned out to be forgetful of what they had learnt from the past classes. So, considering this case of the child laborers, BASE planned and arranged for the emergency classes to enable them to continue their classes.

Details of the emergency class:

4.1.5 Reflect Class

BASE started 22 Regenerated Freidan Learning Empowerment Technique (REFLECT) classes in Bardia district to enhance community people's awareness, practical knowledge, skill, literacy and also to encourage them to participate in the group discussions and unite themselves to resolve their burning issues within the community. A total of 576 people including 537 women and 39 men had participated in such classes. After this class, awareness for community work has increased. The community has shown positive trend in resolving its own petty problems, in building toilets and treating the girls equally after such programs were implemented.

4.1.6 Literacy Class

BASE started literacy classes for 15-45 age group women representing disadvantaged and poor community to make them aware of practical knowledge, skills, health, sanitation and financial management. The basic classes are run for nearly six months while literacy classes are run for four months. These programs are being implemented in Dang and Banke districts.

Table for literacy classes:

		BLL	PLL	LOCEC
1	Dang	27	27	25	52	1,695
2	Banke	31	31	17	48	1,577
Total		58	58	42	100	3,272

The survey and evaluation of the classes have shown that the women who were involved in these classes are now capable to read, write and do smaller sums by themselves. The book called "Saugat" which incorporates subjects such as financial progress, health, environment and civic sense has certainly improved their way of living nowadays.

4.1.7 Sanjiwani Class

BASE has initiated Sanjiwani classes in Dang, Salyan and Kailali districts with a view to bring back conflict affected, mentally or psychologically affected children to their earlier physical state of mind.

Details of Sanjiwani Class:

S.N.	District	# of Center	# of Children			Remarks

Total		139	1,088	1,183	2,271

4.1.8 Sanjiwani Training

In order to minimize the adverse effects of the conflict by means of acting, play, pictures and sports among the children, BASE has initiated Sanjiwani trainings to 16 facilitators in Kailali, 24 in Dang and 20 in Salyan district. On completion of the training these facilitators had gone home and initiated such trainings of their own in their village and areas. By now they have provided training to more than 140 facilitators in Dang and to 100 facilitators in Kailali district.

4.1.9 Peace Education Class

BASE initiated Peace Education Classes in selective schools which have been adversely affected by the conflict. Such classes are run by the students of grade 5 and 6 after providing five day training to their respective school teachers. One of the purposes of running this type of classes is to give them the knowledge about the mediating role of the schools and students during the conflict time. BASE in this connection has distributed peace education materials to 28 schools throughout Dang, Banke, Bardiya and Kanchanpur districts.

Details of Peace Education Classes:

4.1.10 Parents' Education

BASE has initiated parents' education session in Kailali district considering the fact that parents are the first and foremost teachers of their children. If the parents give a good environment to their children at home, then the children can develop well both physically and mentally. The objective of this program is to ensure the overall development of the children. In Kailali district such classes are being run in 45 child development centers, where a total of 950 guardians participated.

4.1.11 School Support Program (Physical and Humanitarian)

The physical infrastructure of the school is a must for a qualitative education. Keeping this in view, BASE has been supporting various schools with physical and educational materials. On the one side there is too much rush of the children in the schools, while on the other side, the schools lack adequate number of teachers to teach the students in classes. Under such situations most of the children fritter away their time in the vacant classes. Therefore, BASE provided 8 teachers in assistance in Kailali district at freed Kamaiya settlements Muktinath Pre-Primary, Manhera, Bela Primary Beladevipur, Janata Rastriya Primary, Geta, Sidha Baba Middle School Geta and Sarda High School, Sripur.

Besides, BASE provided the under mentioned schools with physical and humanitarian support.

4.1.14 Orientation for School Management Committee/Teachers/ Parents

BASE has launched a campaign to create awareness among the parents, school committee members and teachers at local level in simpler language as they seem to be ignorant about the government's education policy. The program also aims at promoting the relation between the government schools and the communities and also helps in the decision making process of the schools.

BASE so far has provided teachers training on Peace Education to 10 from Salyan (5 male and 5 female) and 4 from Dang district including 3 male and 1 female.

BASE has also initiated orientation training to the teachers and school parents in Salyan, Dang, Banke, Bardia, Kailali and Kanchanpur districts on quality education and school as zone of peace.

Parents can be attracted towards the schools if the teaching materials used by the schools can be exhibited publicly. Once they are attracted towards the school, their participation in the school activities may increase. So, keeping this fact in view, BASE initiated educational exhibition at Bardia's Biswajyoti Primary school, Rajipur by putting up 48 stalls. The educational materials prepared by the school students, teachers along with parents were displayed during the exhibition.

4.1.17 Library Support Program

BASE has supported three schools in Bardia with library. The schools include: Biswajyoti Pre-Primary, Himalayan Pre-Primary and Bhanudaya Pre-Primary School. The purpose behind supporting these schools with library was that library is a must for a good and qualitative school, as the students often need extra-knowledge which they can not get from their formal curriculum. The books provided in the library include stories, poems, various picture books, education related regulations and general knowledge books.

The student and teachers have been able to read books on various subjects after the foundation of the library. Similarly, BASE has provided supports to 32 schools in Dang, Salyan, Banke and Kanchanpur districts.

4.1.24 Child Clubs/Organizations/Youth Clubs/Society

BASE believes that organization is a strong basis for right. Therefore, it has established child clubs, child organizations and child society. BASE after surveying in at least three schools of Kailali district has started Milijuli Program in (Sidhbaba Middle School, Geti, Navajyoti Primary school, Srilanka and Janata Primary school, Jhalari.)

4.2 Campaign for the Protection of Children Affected by Conflict

"Children and schools are peace zone" has become a worldwide slogan by now. In Nepal it is the sole responsibility of international community and national civil society to establish schools and children as zone of peace. In Nepal, two international NGOs working for the protection of child rights (Watchlist and Save the Children) and five other national NGOs (BASE, HimRights, Advocacy Forum, Community Study Welfare Center and Concern Nepal) have in coordination with one another launched a common campaign for the protection of child rights who are affected by the conflict. BASE has implemented this program in Dang and Bardiya district and kept Banke district under consideration.

Objectives of this campaign

1. To develop partnership with all other NGOs working for child rights.
2. To monitor the situations involving child right abuses and enhance the capacity building of the NGOs.

This campaign has given orientations to BASE Banke committees and representatives from five districts. The press statements released by BASE in connection with local elections, urging the concerned authorities not to use schools as polling booths has already been published in various media.

4.3 Sponsorship Management Program

BASE Kailali has been launching sponsored management program ever since 1995. Its main objective is to bring about durable positive transformation in the lives of the children through integrated community development program. This program is being implemented in 13 VDCs of Kailali district and Dhanagadhi municipality. This program has bolstered the overall development of the children. Under this program, this year, a total of 1,238 children (657 boys and 581 girls) have been sponsored.

4.4 Income Generating Program

Nepal is predominantly an agrarian country. 90 per cent of population is mainly dependent on agriculture. The average income of the Nepalis is dwindling everyday owing to the ongoing conflict. Unemployment is increasing day by day. Especially the freed Kamaiyas of the mid and far western region are finding it difficult to meet their both ends meet and are being forced to send their children as child labors due to lack of employment opportunities in this region, while on the other side the families affected by the conflict have lost their husbands/ wives/ children. BASE in Dang, Banke, Bardia, Kailali and Kanchanpur district has launched income generating programs to enable such families to become self-reliant. There can be no two opinions regarding the fact that the state has treated women in Nepal as second citizens. The women in Nepal have been socially, politically, culturally and physically exploited and suppressed. BASE has initiated this program in Dang, Kailali and Banke districts so as to ameliorate the women's social and economic status and their living standard.

Objectives:

1. To provide opportunity to the rural women in skill oriented activities.
2. To develop adequate skills for management of natural resources and sanitation.
3. To encourage saving and loan disbursement
4. To improve the living standard of backward farmers and freed Kamaiyas

In Kailali district, BASE launched the following activities for small farmers:

4.6 Disaster Preparedness and Response

Natural disaster is a dreadful and tormenting foe that may befall on human life in an unprecedented way. These natural disasters and upheavals are engendered by the human activities. In many cases, man tends to be more responsible for causing natural disaster rather than the nature itself. The natural disaster and social conflicts are being escalated in the present world day by day. Thus the natural disaster has challenged the physical development. And Nepal can not remain aloof from it. Every individual victim and community has right to life when the voice for human right is gaining momentum globally these days. Moreover, it is every individual's civic right to get humanitarian support. Therefore, BASE considers it its moral duty to extend humanitarian support to the victims of disaster proportionately and in accordance with human right charter and its minimum standard. So, BASE has initiated preparation of relief programs prior to occurrence of natural disasters.

Following are the objectives of this program:

- a) To support the families of victims with relief materials during natural calamities such as fire, earthquake, floods etc.
- b) To improve and extend district level network for relief operation where program is being implemented.
- c) To form community based disaster committee (CBDD) for prior preparation.
- d) To instill awareness in community about HIV/AIDS education and epidemic caused by contaminated water.
